Paine's Celery Compound Gave Mrs. Porter Back Her Strength.

These sharp, raw, capricious days of February are blamed for much sickness that is simply the direct result of nervous weakness. Perfect health will keep one above any depressing influence from the weather. Pure, richer blood and better fed nervous tissues will make people feel well even in February. During his many years of hard and wonderful work, Prof. Edward E. Phelps, Dartmouth's great professor, had in mind the thousands who were weak and run down. His study of the many cases of nervous prostration, neuralgia, rheumatism, dyspepsia, and debility led him to that most marvelous discovery of the century, Paine's celery compound. In every city, as well as the smaller villages scattered through this country, are men and women who for years have relied upon Paine's celery compound whenever they found themselves weak and out of health. Hundreds of letters like the following from Mrs. Porter, of New York City, tell how this great medicine has kept them well and strong.

NEW YORK, Jan. 3, 1896.

Messrs. Wells & Richardson Co.,

Dear Sirs:—For several years I have used your Paine's celery compound whenever I found myself running down in health. During that time I have recommended it frequently to my friends and I know of many persons who have been much benefited by it. I am never without a bottle of it in the house, and take great pleasure in expressing to you my belief that it does a great work for humanity.

Mrs. M. Porter, 282 Eighth Avenue.

Mrs. Porter's experience is like thousands of others. Paine's celery compound made her well, because it fed the starved nerves and blood and regulated their functions. Try it and be convinced of its remarkable power to cure disease.

OLDEST REPUBLICAN

In West Virginia is a Survivor of the Battle of Waterloo and Shook Hands with the Great Napoleon—Remarkable Career of Thomas Allen.

Those who were at the great convention of the state Republican League of Clubs, held in Fairmont in 1894, will doubtless recall an incident in which an aged delegate from Taylor county was the central figure, and which created general enthusiasm. It was the appearance on the stage of the venerable Thomas Allen, who had come down with the Taylor county delegation. He was introduced to the convention as the oldest Republican in West Virginia, and when the statement was made that he was in his one hundred and third year, and he made a few remarks showing that he was in possession of his faculties and to all appearances in a fair way to vote many another Republican ticket, the greeting he received from the hundreds of delegates was in the nature of a grand ovation.

It will interest those who were present on that occasion to know that Mr. Allen is still living at his home in Flemington in good health, and that on the 28th of April he will celebrate his one hundredth and fifth birthday. He may live to celebrate many more birthdays. Mr. Allen has a remarkable history, and is one of the very few men now living who had the honor of shaking hands with the great Napoleon Bonaparte. More than that he is the hero of the war in which Napoleon met his Waterloo, Mr. Allen being at the time a soldier in the British army under the duke of Wellington. He recently wrote for a Cincinnati paper a sketch of his own life, which is very interesting.

He was born at Northumberland, England, April 28, 1791, and comes of a long-lived family, his grandfather having lived to the great age of 135 years. In the article referred to Mr. Allen relates that he enlisted in the British army in 1809, when he was eighteen, and when George III was still king, and took part in the battles against the French in the Napoleon war. He was in battle against General Ney in the south of France and in the battle which resulted in the capture of Madrid, Spain. He was also at the battles of Sevastopol and Trafalgar, and is a survivor of the battle of Waterloo, which he describes as "the most terrible day of my life." He was in the company christened "dare devils" by the duke of Wellington. He shook hands with Napoleon when the emperor was taken prisoner.

Mr. Allen came to America in 1823, and after drifting about for some time, finally settled where he now resides in Taylor county. He was in the famous Black Hawk Indian war, and when the war of the rebellion broke out enlisted in the Third West Virginia Infantry, which afterward became the Sixth West Virginia cavalry. This latter war record is remarkable when it is considered that Mr. Allen was seventy-one years old at the outbreak of the war and seventy-five when he was mustered out.

It is interesting to note what this old hero says about his habits of life, which he thinks have been responsible in part for his long and healthy career. Among other things he says:

"I used tobacco about seventy-five years, but quit about ten years ago. I have drunk some liquor when very drunk, but once, when I got so sick that it did me for me, and I have touched nothing of the kind since. I have only been sick twice in my life, once before I left England and once from the whiskey. I did not begin to wear glasses until last year, when I was over 100 years old, 1892, being at the time over 100 years of age. I never was married and never expect to be. My religious faith is of the Presbyterian order.

"I was never addicted to swearing much, and I can truthfully say that I never gambled or took part in any of the greater vices. In politics I am an uncompromising Republican, cast my first vote for John Quincy Adams and have voted on that line ever since. If I had my life to live over I would do the same thing again."

ENJOYABLE BANQUET

Given by the Pan Handle Society of the West Virginia University.

The Pan-Handle Association of the West Virginia University met at the Port Henry club last evening and perfected a permanent organization, continuing the temporary organization, H. Ogden, president, and Frank Cox, secretary and treasurer. An executive committee consisting of Guy R. C. Allen, M. D. Post and W. C. Meyer, was appointed, with the president and secretary as members ex-officio. All regular and ex-regents were admitted as honorary members, and Field Agent W. T. Barbe was likewise honored. Professor J. S. Stewart, occupying the chair of mathematics at the university, brought to the attention of those present the scheme of a "college annuity," which the students proposed issuing this year, and hoped it would receive the patronage and support of the members of the Pan-Handle society. He also suggested the idea of a portrait gallery of the presidents of the institution, as when they reached the university, as the old Monongalia Academy is considered the mother of the university. Col. G. B. Caldwell, an alumnus of that institution, proposed that the society undertake to furnish the portrait of the late Rev. Dr. J. R. Moore, president of that school. The matter was referred to the executive committee with power to act.

The business meeting was followed with a toothsome banquet, for which plates for twenty-two were laid. Regent C. B. Hart performed the duties of toastmaster and acquitted himself in his usual graceful manner. The speeches were remarkably entertaining, as may be judged from the fact that it was nearly 2 o'clock before the guests arose from the table.

The following were the toasts and responses: "What We are Here For," Mr. H. C. Ogden, "Relation of Public Schools to the University," Superintendent of Schools W. H. Anderson, "The Time of 1871-2," Mr. John E. Day, "Normal Schools and the University," Principal J. N. Deahl, of West Liberty, "University Before the Flood," W. H. C. Curtis, West Liberty, "College Sports," Prof. Charles J. Carrigan, of the Upper Benwood school, "College Journalism," Mr. W. C. Meyer, "Rise of the University," and Some of Its Present Needs," Prof. J. S. Stewart, of the University, "The Law School," Mr. M. D. Post, "Monongalia Academy," Col. George B. Caldwell, "The University as It Is," Field Agent W. T. Barbe.

The banquet was really one of the most enjoyable ever held in this city, and old friendships formed at college, and making new ones. The next banquet will be held a year hence.

MR. WILKINSON HOME

He Returned on the Early B. & O. Train this Morning.

Mr. Howard Wilkinson was a passenger on the early train on the Baltimore and Ohio road from One west, arrived shortly after 1 o'clock this morning. He met few people, and went at once to his home on the island. The public was not advised of his intention to return at this time, but his relatives no doubt knew of it. He seemed in good health and spirits. A few friends met him on his way home, and all welcomed him back heartily. Evidently his visit to his brother in Hancock had done him a great deal of good.

When a baby comes to the house real happiness comes. Work and care and anxiety count for nothing against the smoothly dainty, dinging touch of the little hands and the sound of the little voice. The highest function given to human beings is bringing healthy, happy children into the world. Nothing equals that—nothing compensates for the loss of it. The woman who has never come to the real fullness of womanhood. Over thirty years ago the needs of women appealed to Dr. Pierce, now chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y. The result of his study improved by thirty years of practice is embodied in Dr. Pierce's "Little Women's Friend." It serves but one purpose. It strengthens, purifies and makes healthy the organs distinctly feminine. It gives weak women the strength and health necessary for the production of healthy children and it makes the bearing of weak children easy. It is sure to cure any weakness or derangement peculiar to women; stops pain, soothes inflammation, strengthens, purifies, invigorates. Thousands of homes have been made happy by its use. Thousands of letters like this one from

Mrs. W. F. Cain, of Clinton, Allegheny Co., Pa., who writes: "I was afflicted with all sorts of female trouble. I tried three doctors, and seven kinds of patent medicine, and found no relief. My husband said 'try Dr. Pierce's medicine.' I told him I might as well throw my money in the fire as to try anything more. I had lost all hope. I had not taken more than half a bottle when I could eat and sleep well. I took four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and several vials of his 'Pinks.' One year after I gave birth to a fine baby girl. I got along so much better than when my other child was born. Three of my friends are taking your medicines, and are improving."

Yours truly,

Mrs. W. F. Cain.

Challenges for 11 rounds were hurled back and forth but by the time the train had pulled out of Langtry for El Paso nothing had been done.

Peter Maher has sent the following dispatch to the New York World: I am of course disappointed. He is a clever fighter and I don't know exactly where I was hit, but it seems to me it was on the jaw. The back of my head has a big lump on it and that's where it struck the floor. I thought I had him licked from the start and so far as my condition is concerned I have nothing to complain of, and I would like to get a fight with somebody else—I am not particular which of the heavy weights.

"PETER MAHER."

RECORDS OF THE MEN.

Where and How Maher and Fitzsimmons Won Plastic Fauc.

Robert Fitzsimmons was born in Cornwall, England, June 4, 1862. His height is 5 feet 11 1/2 inches. His first fighting was done in New Zealand in 1880, when he won the amateur championship by defeating five men in a tournament managed by Jem Mace. One of his opponents on this occasion was Herbert Slade. His more notable fights were as follows: With Jim Hall, at Sydney, February 20, 1889, four rounds, lost; with Jack Dempsey, at New Orleans, January 14, 1891, thirteen rounds, won; with Peter Maher, at New Orleans, March 2, 1892, twelve rounds, won; with Joe Godfrey, at Philadelphia, May 7, 1892, one round, won; with Jim Hall, at New Orleans, March 8, 1893, four rounds, won; with Joe Choyinski, at Boston, June 17, 1894, five rounds, draw; with Dan Creedon, at New Orleans, September 25, 1894, won.

Peter Maher was born in Galway, Ireland, March 16, 1895, and is 5 feet 11 1/2 inches tall. His first public encounter was with Martin O'Hara, whom he defeated in two rounds in 1888. He beat Tim O'Doherty in three rounds, and boxed a four round draw with Robert Hair, amateur champion of England, and knocked out John Seenan in five rounds. He won John J. Sullivan's competitive in Dublin, defeating Jack Wallis, Tom Walker and Larry Drew in three round bouts. He met Peter Jackson in Dublin in 1889. They were to have boxed four rounds, but Maher only boxed two. He knocked out Alf Bowman in six rounds and Gus Lambert in one round. He arrived in New York, October 7, 1894, and defeated Davis in five rounds. Tim Daly, Jack Fallon, in two and Jack Smith and Sailor Brown in one round each on the same evening. Beat Joe Godfrey in one round in 1892 and scored a victory over Van Flood. Maher was beaten by Fitzsimmons at New Orleans, but since then has knocked out "Coffee Cooler" Craig and "Coke" O'Donnell. He has never whipped a really first class man. One of his worst exhibitions was with Joe Goddard before the Coney Island athletic club, December 6, 1892, Joe knocking him out in three rounds.

CORBETT AFTER FITZ.

Wants to Meet Him and Arrange for a Fight in England, Australia or South Africa.

CHICAGO, Feb. 21.—Corbett had a big house at the Haymarket to-night and he was wildly cheered when he read the following telegram to be sent to L. Bench, Associated Press correspondent at Langtry, Texas.

"I leave here to-morrow night and return the first of March. Tell Fitzsimmons to name the day he will be here between March 1 and 6 and we will have no trouble in agreeing to terms."

JAMES A. CORBETT.

Corbett, after reading the telegram, placed $1,000 in the hands of Manager Davis, of the Haymarket theatre. "There are only three places on earth where we can fight," said Corbett, "England, South Africa, and Australia. I will go to any one of these places to meet this man. I want him to do business, that's all I want. I want to say right here as a young American of Irish descent, that I will meet any man on the face of the earth."

If Mr. Wright Cannot Secure Grounds He and "Buck" Will Try a Hand—The Team Has All Been Signed.

Special Dispatch to the Intelligencer.

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 21.—The report sent out from this city yesterday that I said Mr. Wright had caused a report to be issued that there would be no club in Wheeling, because he could not secure grounds on his line and that he does not own Wheeling, is not true and does not Mr. Wright and myself a wrong. Both Mr. Wright and myself know that Mr. Buckenberger and I know that Mr. Wright has done all he possibly could to get the grounds in Wheeling. If he was not successful in getting the Schumacher or Gilles property it was not because he did not try. We know that Mr. Wright is anxious to have a club in your city and we are now. Now if he is not able to secure grounds in that city, we will go there and see what we can do. The report that we would get the fair grounds is also untrue. What I did say was this: If Mr. Wright could not get grounds we would go down to Wheeling and see what could be done in regard to grounds. Wheeling will have a club if it is possible to get grounds there. I have my team all signed and have ordered them to report in your city on April 8th. I have also booked games for every day during April. Hoping you will make this denial in justice to both Mr. Wright and myself.
